Meet Anna Bryson ORC Public Relations Chair

One of our newest members, Anna Bryson leads a remarkably active life and, as Orange Rotary's new Public Relations Chair, has a big pair of shoes to fill. She replaces former Orange mayor Joanne Coontz who, for the past 3 years, raised the bar for recognition of ORC activities in the community and throughout the Rotary district. Anna accepted Dave Sundstrom's invitation to join ORC and was inducted last November.

She is currently serving as Executive Assistant and Director of Program Services to Orange County's Treasurer-Tax Collector. She also serves as the President of the Capistrano Unified School District, which is now the state's 9th largest, and is running for reelection.

Anna has two grown daughters and 5 grandchildren (3 boys and 2 girls) who range in age from 8 years to 21

LAST WEEK

Jim Kunha, Orange Lutheran Head Football Coach captivated the group with his humor, wisdom, and his winning formula for success headed by one's character, faith, a capacity to love, to serve a purpose greater than self, and a willingness to give all you've got. President Bill loved his story!

Meet Anna Bryson
 ORC Public Relations
 Chair

(graduating next year from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.) She married at age 18 which for her Texas family was a tradition. Her hobbies are linked to her unusual childhood; Anna's father was an Air Force Major General and served as an Attaché with the Diplomatic Corps on two continents. She grew up in Montevideo, Uruguay with a first language of Spanish, then Washington, DC and on to Rome, Italy for 4 years where she became fluent in Italian and French. Later she lived in Hungary, New York and about 8 different states. She was widowed at the time she met her current husband Bill and they have been married for "two wonderful years."

Her hobbies include international cooking, the Catholic Church, architecture, travel, swimming, reading, interested in astronomy, physics, and poetry, which she writes as well. Anna's biggest passions are her faith and politics. At Chapman University she "took the Road to the White House", and received Certification as a Political Consultant. She has worked on the campaigns of Governor Schwarzenegger and Senate candidate Diane Harkey. She has also owned Public Relations firms and companies on both coasts, and remains a SAG and Equity actress.

I began this article by telling you that Anna leads a remarkable life and now you know. When she was asked what primary strengths she brings to Orange Rotary she replied "compassion for all peoples, enthusiasm and the drive to get jobs done with expertise and creativity in many arenas." We are blessed to have a member of Anna's passion, talents and skills. Thanks Dave for inviting her to join us. Take a moment to say hello and wish her all the best in her new role as ORC's Public Relations Chair.
